Entertaining
Pop Concert
Heard By Few

By GEORGE KIDD

Last night's Pop Concert at Massey Hall drew one of the smallest crowds of the season, but the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Paul Scherman, and baritone soloist Donald Garrard, provided an evening of unexpected sparkle.

One would expect that the many empty seats would tend to dampen the enthusiasm of the orchestra, but such was not the case. Those in attendance, numbering less than 1,000, heard an orchestral program that was musically sound. Mr. Garrard gave one of his best vocal performances.

The musicians were best in the quick tempered portions of the program. The opener was a group of hymns usually associated with New Year, followed by the familiar Frescobaldi-Kindler Toccat with some beautiful work from the violins. Rossini's overture to Cinderella was well presented, and the ballet music from Gounod's Faust, although lacking spirit at times, had many good points about it, particularly in the more dynamic passages.

ENTERTAINING

Dance of the Hours, a Strauss waltz and a medley from South Pacific, completed the orchestral program which was always entertaining, and mostly well played under Mr. Scherman's excellent direction.

Mr. Garrard first appeared in a most reverent interpretation of It Is Enough, from Mendelssohn's Elijah. There was complete control of the voice here, and passages that were filled with sincere understanding. Dictation was perfect throughout.

AMUSING

The amusing aria from Rossini's Barber of Seville had a richness of tone but frequently lacked color. In the Mozart aria from Don Giovanni, however, he presented some beautiful song shaded with wonder flexibility and a tonal depth and timbre that was exciting.

With Leo Barkin at the piano Mr. Garrard presented a group of delightful numbers, the best being the poignant Lord Randall. In this he displayed the dramatic qualities of his vocal art. All Day on the Prairie, and the Welsh air, Counting the Goats, were both given with complete understanding and careful interpretation.

The amusing encores by Stern-dale Bennett, which Mr. Garrard always does so well, brought prolonged applause from a most appreciative and enthusiastic audience.

—No Women

Francis Joseph Cornish, former alderman who was defeated in the two last municipal elections, is holding for a post on the Board of Control, is one of the 69 men in the very named Queens' Council in the New Year's list. Attorney General Dana Porter today announced the appointments, which total 69 for the province. In Toronto the number was the same as last year, and there are no women appointees.

Snow To Them
Will Be
But HearsayBy ERNEST M. BARTLETT

When you are in Florida, enjoying its sun and warmth, and wondering to yourself just how cold is the weather, you have escaped in Canada, you will be able to get the answer very quickly.

Starting Monday, a Toronto broadcaster will be going on the air twice a day over Florida stations, giving up-to-the-minute news from home.

The idea originated when it was found that Canadians in Florida frequently asked other Canadians "what have you heard from home?" Dave Price, Toronto broadcaster, found that unless you were lucky enough to run into someone who had been talking to Canada, you never did find out.

By Phone To Florida
Then On The Air

That disappointment will be obviated this Monday. For six days a week, Monday through Saturday, and for a 13-week schedule, Dave Price will give a five-minute newscast each morning. They will be carried on Station WKAT, Miami Beach, at 9:25 a.m. and on Station WLEA, Tampa, at 9:55. Dave will phone the newscasts to the stations where they will be recorded for broadcast at the times noted. He will cover headline news, weather (to give holiday-makers a chance to gloat), sports and a brief market resume.

Will Also Tell
Of Canada's Joys

During the 13 weeks, too, Dave Price will call the attention of Floridians to some of Canada's holiday and beauty spots like the Laurentians or the Muskoka Lakes, and suggest that they will find them just the places to spend their own summer vacations. Sponsoring Mr. Price's service, in the main, are the Dominion Stores.

Pictures like this one leave no doubt as to what the weather is like in Florida. Now, thanks to a Toronto-originating daily broadcast, which will be heard over Miami Beach and Tampa radio stations, holidaying Canadians will know what the weather is like back home. Coming back to the picture... this quintet of lovelies has not been swimming. The girls have been catching crabs and one is, very cautiously, displaying the catch.
